

MASJID ADHAN, IQAMAH & MICROPHONE POLICY

Purpose

The Adhan is a sacred call to the worship of Allah ﷻ and should be delivered with respect, dignity, and proper Islamic etiquette.

To maintain consistency, organization, and the sanctity of the Masjid, the following policy applies to all individuals wishing to give the Adhan, Iqamah, make announcements, or use the Masjid sound system.

1. Permission Required to Give the Adhan

No individual may give the Adhan without authorization from the Imam/Sheikh or Masjid Administration.

Individuals who regularly wish to give the Adhan should first receive approval and may be placed on the Masjid's Approved Mu'adhdhin List.

Being permitted to give the Adhan on one occasion does not automatically give a person permission to give the Adhan at other prayers or programs.

The Imam/Sheikh or Administration reserves the right to appoint or change the Mu'adhdhin at any time.

2. Jumu'ah (Friday) Adhan

The Adhan for Jumu'ah is reserved for:

- The Imam/Sheikh;
- Assistant Imams/Sheikhs; or
- An individual specifically appointed by the Imam/Sheikh or Masjid Administration.

No other individual may give the Jumu'ah Adhan without prior permission.

Even an individual who regularly gives Adhan for the five daily prayers should not assume that he is authorized to give the Jumu'ah Adhan.

Due to the large congregation and importance of maintaining an organized Jumu'ah program, there will be no exceptions without prior approval.

3. Ramadan & Taraweeh

During the blessed month of Ramadan, particularly during Isha, Taraweeh, Witr, and major Ramadan programs, the Adhan, Iqamah, microphone, and prayer-related responsibilities will be managed by the Imam/Sheikh and those appointed by him.

No individual should independently step forward to give the Adhan or use the microphone during Ramadan programs unless specifically authorized.

This is particularly important during Taraweeh, when the Masjid follows a planned program and schedule.

4. Approved Mu'adhdhins

The Masjid may maintain a list of approved Mu'adhdhins for the five daily prayers.

An approved Mu'adhdhin should:

- Know the correct wording and sequence of the Adhan;
- Pronounce the Arabic clearly and correctly;
- Give the Adhan in a respectful and composed manner;
- Follow the established Adhan and Iqamah times;
- Follow the direction of the Imam/Sheikh;
- Avoid unnecessarily prolonging or excessively embellishing the Adhan;
- Maintain proper Islamic manners and respect for the House of Allah;
- Be familiar with the Masjid microphone and sound system.

Where reasonably possible, the Mu'adhdhin should be in a state of wudu and face the Qiblah while giving the Adhan.

5. Children & Youth Giving the Adhan

The Masjid encourages youth to learn and practice the Adhan.

However, children and youth must receive permission from the Imam/Sheikh or authorized Masjid personnel before giving the Adhan over the Masjid microphone.

Youth may be given opportunities to practice or give the Adhan under the supervision and discretion of the Imam.

6. Microphone & Sound-System Use

The Masjid microphone and sound system are not for unrestricted public use.

No individual may take or activate a microphone without authorization.

Microphones may only be used by:

- Imams/Sheikhs;
- Approved Mu'adhdhins;
- Authorized staff or administration;
- Approved speakers, teachers, or guests; or
- Individuals specifically given permission.

Microphone settings, volume levels, mixers, receivers, or other sound equipment should not be adjusted without authorization.

Approval of the content of an announcement does not automatically mean that the requester may personally use the microphone.

7. Respect for the Imam's Decision

The Adhan is an act of worship and service to the community, not a position to compete over.

If the Imam/Sheikh appoints another person to give the Adhan or Iqamah, everyone should respectfully accept that decision.

Arguments, disputes, raising voices, or attempting to take the microphone after being asked not to do so are unacceptable inside the Masjid.

Repeated violations may be referred to the Masjid Administration for further action.

General Rule

ASK BEFORE USING THE MICROPHONE.
